

DAILY COURIER.

TUESDAY MORNING. - JAN. 28, 1865.

THE NEWS.

The population of the city of Chicago is down at $72,000.

Gold advanced yesterday; opening at 40; and closed at 41½.

JAMES MORT, died in Brooklyn on Sunday, aged 80.

THOMAS MALONE, who was shot in the courtroom in Memphis on Friday, died on Saturday.

One million $100 bonds and more than immigrants have arrived in this country since 1860.

COTTON was firmer in New York yesterday, with sales of middling up around 50c.

SECRETARIES State that he does not expect to collect $100,000 for Wahabu, but the next one will.

Gen. WADDELL is perfecting his bill to secure telegraphic postal communication throughout the United States.

There were thirty-five deaths in New Or-leans last week, only one of which was from cholera.

The Georgia Convention consumed the entire day yesterday in discussing the question of relief, without result.

No irregular forces had reached the army head-quarters, and those forces were suffering from hunger or cold in Alaska.

The Quebec Assembly have under consideration the cause of the emigration of Canadians to the United States, and the best means of preventing it.

JIMMY DUTCH, a wild-kidnapping outlaw, was shot in the back at a saloon yesterday, in a quarrel with his partner, Kelly. His recovery is very doubtful.

By the sinking of the Emerald in Penobscot Bay, on Saturday, two lives lost. Dr. H. Brown, an wife, and daughter, of Arkansas, and a chambermaid.

GEN. MEADE has issued an order in relation to voting in Alabama. Polls will be opened at three o'clock in each county, and continue open for four hours.

The extensive miles of Gudgerland & Worts, at Streetview, Canada West, were destroyed by fire on Saturday night. Loss, $20,000.

G. RAFF, a German, aged 25, from Michigamie, committed suicide at Sudbury on Sunday, by shooting himself in the mouth with a revolver.

A very heavy gale passed over the Southern counties of Scotland on Sunday, hurling and blowing down houses, and doing much damage.

SENIOR DOUGLASS, owing to public susspection, has addressed a letter to the President in New York on Thursday night to sustain the President.

The Missouri Central Club publishes an address to the Representatives of Missouri, calling upon them to support the Grand Army, to be voted by the National Convention for President.

The friends of Senator Thomas, of Maryland, are not so hopeful of his admission now, as they were a week ago. They fear that the reconstructionists will not sustain him.

The Kentucky election was, they have more than a faint hope, to seat the Senator on the 2d of January.

Gen. ROBERT J. WALKER has written a long letter, which will soon be published, giving a history of the Civil War, and of the United States, and in favor of the purchase of the Western American Possessions and Danish West Indies.

T. H. HARRIS, who abandoned from Lake Providence, La., with $30,000 deposited in his bank account, has returned to Frankfort, Ky., where he has been engaged in business ever since.

COLONEL BROWN has sent a wire to Washington, asking him to address a resolution to the Senate, to sustain him.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

HON. ROBERT J. WALKER has written a letter, which will soon be published, giving a history of the Civil War, and of the United States, and in favor of the purchase of the Western American Possessions and Danish West Indies.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

THE FRIENDS of Senator Thomas, of Maryland, are not so hopeful of his admission now, as they were a week ago. They fear that the reconstructionists will not sustain him.

The Kentucky election was, they have more than a faint hope, to seat the Senator on the 2d of January.

Gen. ROBERT J. WALKER has written a long letter, which will soon be published, giving a history of the Civil War, and of the United States, and in favor of the purchase of the Western American Possessions and Danish West Indies.

T. H. HARRIS, who abandoned from Lake Providence, La., with $30,000 deposited in his bank account, has returned to Frankfort, Ky., where he has been engaged in business ever since.

COLONEL BROWN has sent a wire to Washington, asking him to address a resolution to the Senate, to sustain him.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

HON. ROBERT J. WALKER has written a letter, which will soon be published, giving a history of the Civil War, and of the United States, and in favor of the purchase of the Western American Possessions and Danish West Indies.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate during the present week for Commissioner of Patents.

SENATOR JONES'S REPLY to MORRISON, dated Dec. 23, 1864, yesterday John Jones replied to Morton's speech to-day, and had the vast audience enthralled for hours. His stern array of inexorable facts and logic, the brilliant propositions of Morton were exploded, and the audience was won over to his point of view.

The Democratic members voted against the bill, as did most of the Western members.

They are more than a faint hope, to occur in the case of W. D. Bishop, of Connecticut, will probably be seated to the Senate